

Mat Walklate's Irish Band
Sunday 2nd December, 7pm

Performing all the well-known Irish songs and tunes, Mat Walklate's Irish Ceili Band guarantees a top quality Irish night.

Mat himself is a champion flute and whistle player who also plays a mean folk-style harmonica, performing really tasty and original versions of traditional folk tunes.

Seamus joins him on guitar and vocals to create an Irish duo that performs all your favourite Irish songs, mixed with top-tapping jigs and reels.

Add fiddle to the mix and you have a trio ready to give you a good dose of "the craic" and some!

Autumn 2018 Programme

In our first full Sunday evening programme for Autumn 2018 we showcase talented musicians and singers and a wide variety of musical styles.

To accommodate a growing audience, performances are in our modern Hall, which has excellent acoustics.

We create a convivial, night-club atmosphere. Seating is arranged around tables with candles. JustJane, our caterers, provide a bar and offer jacket potatoes during the interval. We aim to make it a great night out for performers and audience.

To enable us to attract performers of a high standard we have raised the ticket price to £10, discounted to £30 for all 4 concerts.

The bar opens at 7pm. Music is from 7.30 to 9.30, with a 30 minute interval. Do arrive early to find a good seat!

Kevin Hassett's Jazz Quartet: REDUX
Sunday 2nd September, 7pm

'Redux' offers an energetic jazz based musical entertainment for both jazz listeners and non-jazz live music lovers. The repertoire is an eclectic, lively and original amalgam of freshly interpreted and arranged jazz standards leavened with blues and soul.

The Band is a four piece featuring Kevin Hassett on vocals, well known local musicians Paul Matthews on Guitar, Jeff Henson on Bass and R.A Phillips on Drums and is a live spin off from the Studio based Project Kevin Hassett's 'A' Game whose 3rd album 'Rules of the Road' was released in September 2017.

Charlotte Campbell Singer song-writer
Sunday 7th October, 7pm

After writing music for 10 years, Charlotte Campbell's career really began when she found herself on London's Southbank, guitar in hand and a case full of change. She has captured the hearts of tourists and Londoners with her sweet vocals and thoughtful lyrics. Having graduated from London's BRIT School and Institute of Contemporary Performance, Charlotte is making a name for herself in her hometown; featured in Time Out London, The Metro and The Londonist.

Bon Accord Gypsy Café Jazz
Sunday 4th November, 7pm

Bon Accord are inspired by the music of Django Reinhardt and Stephane Grappelli's "Quintet of the Hot Club of France", a style now known as Gypsy Jazz.

Most bands in this genre today consist entirely of stringed instruments. Django, however, also recorded with accordionists and clarinetists.

Our quartet follows this lead with a line-up of accordion, clarinet, guitar and double bass, playing both well-known and more contemporary Gypsy Jazz numbers plus French and Latin pieces.
